5.3 Development and Justification:

In a 6-credits course, students should complete 150 working hours, distributed as follows:

- Lectures/seminars: 36 h.
- Tutorials: 9 h.
- Exams and/or other evaluation tests: 3h.
- Individual work: 102 h/ 105 h in courses without a final exam

A. SEMINARS

The course will develop along two weekly sessions of 90 minutes each. Sessions will be devoted to the introduction of theory by means of the analysis of texts. Full texts and fragments from movies will also be used to set literature in context.

B. PRACTICAL SESSIONS

After seminars, students should attend three practical sessions. They are meant to participate actively in the sessions and to hand in a written report afterwards. Practical sessions will consist in visits to historical sites in Huelva province which have been significant in the Hispanic-English exchange, analysis of artistic manifestations related to the contents of the course (engravings, paintings, films, etc.) and commentaries on related texts. Attendance and the submission of written reports are compulsory for all students. This will be an essential requirement to pass the course.

C. OTHER ACTIVITIES

Other activities include group and individual tutorials to track the work of students along the course and more specifically their progress with the essay. All announcements and communications with students will be made through MOODLE.
