Introduction

This workshop constitutes an event of scientific dissemination in which scholars and practitioners specially interested in the Economics of self-employment and Entrepreneurship will present and discuss some theoretical and empirical findings on cross-border, regional and international entrepreneurship. It takes the relay of previous workshops on entrepreneurship hosted in Huelva and offers an excellent opportunity for researchers and practitioners with interest in the field to profit from discussion and lively exchange of ideas. During the workshop Revista de Economía Laboral will present the call for papers for the next special issue devoted to cross-border and regional entrepreneurship.
