ANEXO I

SPECIFIC INFORMATION OF THE COURSE

I. Contents description:

1.1 In English:

Study of the history of al-Andalus, an Arab and Islamic country in Iberia over the Middle Ages, from the Muslim conquest (711) to the fall of Granada (1492).

1.2 In Spanish:

Estudio de al-Andalus, desde la conquista musulmana de la península Ibérica hasta la caída de Granada.

2. Background:

2.1 Situation within the Degree:

History of al-Andalus is a 4th year course, aimed at providing an overview of the Arab and Islamic history of Iberia and its reception in modern Spain.

2.2 Recommendations

Ideally, students interested in this course should have knowledge of History, Medieval History, History of Spain and Medieval History of Spain. However and knowing the diverse academic profiles of Erasmus students, this course is adapted for students without previous background in these topics

ANEXO I

3. Objectives (as result of teaching):

The main topics will be addressed following the different periods in which the history of al-Andalus usually divides. These subjects range from historiographical topics (the problematic reception of al-Andalus in modern Spain) to specific issues of particular significance to each period: Islamization and Arabization process, establishment of the Umayyad State, Caliphate of Córdoba, production and transmission of knowledge, war against the Christians, urbanization process, etc.

4. Skills to be acquired

4.1 Specific Skills:

Ability to relate and understand the influence of the past on the present and make it understandable to others.

Ability to understand historical and cultural diversity and to foster tolerance and respect for the value systems of others that derive from different historical and cultural traditions and civic awareness.

Ability to critically examine any kind of historical sources and documents.

Ability to manage the means of search, identification, selection and collection of information and to use them for historical study and research.

Correct use of the terminology of the discipline and knowledge of other languages

4.2 General, Basic or Transversal Skills:

5. Training Activities and Teaching Methods

5.1 Training Activities:

ANEXO I

5.2 Teaching Methods::

Five lectures of 1.5 hours (7.5 hours) for each one of the five units. Lectures are taught drawing on PPoint presentations that include the basic materials aimed at easing the explanations and make the student more acquainted with historical sources through the use of figures (maps, graphics, numismatics) and texts. PPoint presentations are a key tool to follow the course successfully and will be available for the students at the Moodle Platform.

Attending classes is not mandatory, but highly advisable. Avoid skipping classes

5.3 Development and Justification:

8. Systems and Assessment Criteria

8.1 System for Assessment:

The assessment system is based on 25-questions quizzes, one for each of the five units, and one for each of the two required readings (7 tests in total). Passing a unit-quiz gives 1.5 points in the final mark and passing a required-reading quiz gives 1.25 points in the final mark. Questions have three options and a maximum of 5 wrong answers is allowed on each quiz. Unanswered questions are considered wrong answers.

Following the Spanish academic assessment system, the final marks are:

9-10 points: Sobresaliente

7-8 points: Notable

6-5 points: Aprobado (passed)

Less than 5 points: Suspenso (failed)

Required readings (available at Moodle Platform)

García-Sanjuán, A. 2020 'Weaponizing Historical Knowledge: The Notion of Reconquista in Spanish Nationalism', Imago Temporis. Medium Aevum, 14.

Kennedy, H. 1996 Muslim Spain and Portugal: A Political History of al-Andalus, Routledge: London-New York.

8.2 Assessment Criteria and Marks:

8.2.1 Exams. Call 1

8.2.2 Exams. Call 2

8.2.3 Exams. Call 3
